(1) The interest rate and annual percentage yield (APY) may change. At DLP Banks' discretion, the interest rate may change on the account at any time. Interest begins to accrue on the business day noncash items are deposited (for example, checks). Interest will be compounded monthly and will be credited to the account monthly. If the account is closed before interest is credited, he accrued interest will not be received. DLP Bank uses the daily balance method to calculate the interest on the account. This method applies a daily periodic rate to the principal in the account each day. (2) The interest rate and APY disclosed for balances of $250,000.00 or more constitute an introductory rate. This introductory rate will be in effect through December 31, 2026, provided all qualification requirements are met. To earn the introductory interest rate and APY: (1) Deposits must be new money to the Bank. New money is defined as funds not currently on deposit with the Bank and not transferred from another account held at the Bank. (2) You must open and maintain an Eligible Checking Account. (3) You must establish and maintain a monthly ACH credit to an eligible checking or money market account. If the qualification requirements are not met, the account will earn the applicable standard interest rate and APY for this account. After the introductory period ends, the interest rate and APY applicable to balances of $250,000.00 or more will convert to the Bank's standard rates then in effect for this account.
